

Lost in the urban jungle?

The Thames through central London can be intense, with commercial vessels dominating a busy, choppy river. There are also many piers, buoys and bridges making navigation difficult for small boats. Large vessels also find it very hard to notice small boats amongst the crowd.

Rowers and paddlers must inform London VTS before using this part of the river and exercise extreme caution.

www.pla.co.uk
www.boatingonthames.co.uk